Annual Report 2017
Dear Fellow Alumni,

Greetings from the Alumni Board! I am happy to share that in the 2018-2019 school year we will ramp up alumni activities, including our inaugural alumni awards and our new class ambassador program to help us keep in touch with alumni.

Keep your eye out! All alumni (for whom we have current contact information) will soon receive an envelope in the mail with important information about our Alumni Association. Through this mailing you will:

- Learn about alumni events
- Learn how to nominate alumni for alumni awards
- Provide News and Notes to Community School
- Return the updated contact information form

Community School still delivers the highest quality education in a loving environment, and surrounded by the splendor of nature. It can't get much better than that. Since there is now so much research that links a high quality preschool education—nursery and Junior kindergarten—with success in subsequent schooling and later in life, it is easy to feel grateful for our Community School education.

Get involved and stay in touch! We hope that you will continue to help support the school, whether through monetary gifts, the gift of your time, or simply by telling local friends and colleagues about this wonderful place.

Come visit, take a tour, join students for lunch, attend a Thursday Assembly, or shop at Book Show—you can arrange all of these things by simply contacting the Advancement Office at advancement@communityschool.com. If I am available, I would be happy to join you!

Sincerely,

Eliot Cori Tao
Class of 1975

Monday morning in late April, the other during our Annual Meeting in May—to widespread approval and excitement.

There are underlying core requirements of this future development—for instance, environmental sustainability and physical accessibility for all who come to the school—but at its heart we want the plan to be guided by the central idea of ensuring we continue to deliver the best possible education for our students.

The four major areas of the Master Plan include:

A major STEAM (Science, Technology, Engineering, Arts and Math) wing that will stretch north from the gym/ Centennial Arts Center. This facility will bring together in close proximity our two science teachers, our wood shop and our visual arts program, and give us the ability to expand the space used for all of the programs. It can also incorporate larger, more flexible spaces, allowing us to enhance programs that are very space-intensive such as robotics and maker spaces. It is important to understand that although Christner tried, it is difficult to see how we can continue to use the current shop area long-term. Our wood shop teachers would like more space for more and better tools, and to have room for students to more easily work on large projects. Our science program, as well, would benefit from upgrades that are essentially impossible to implement in the current building. It seems clear that, in order to do our best possible work with students, we must remove the current shop/science building. However, by repurposing some of the building’s materials, and staying true to keeping it a place that children learn to work with their hands in wood, we believe we can enhance its functionality while retaining the elements that have made that program so important over the life of the school.

An expansion of the Early Childhood Center (aka “Little Building”) that will allow for better music facilities for our youngest children; improved meeting, workroom and office spaces; and importantly, a new gross motor space. Currently our Early Childhood music program is housed in the commons area of the “Little Building,” and teacher work and meeting space is very limited. Improvements to this area would benefit the music program, allow for breakout areas for more individualized learning, and areas for teachers to meet and collaborate. Gross motor spaces are large indoor open areas that allow students to climb, run, play and experiment in ways that are specifically designed to enhance their core and upper body strength, balance, coordination, body awareness and overall conditioning. Importantly, they are indoors, giving children a place to do this work even when the weather outside is poor. This space would not be intended to replace the woods, running across the field or climbing on the Communisaurus, but it will give us the ability to tend to these important aspects of child development without being reliant on friendly weather.

Vastly improved sight lines, an enlarged and improved Discovery Center (library), relocated Fourth Grade classrooms, and accessibility in the “Big Building.” A key strategic goal of the school is to improve physical accessibility throughout the school. We want to be a school that anyone, regardless of their physical challenges, can come to, whether to teach, or as a student, or to visit their children or grandchildren. This will require relocation of the elevator, so that it can access every level of our school. Additionally, by moving the Discovery Center from its current location downstairs to the location of the current faculty workroom and early childhood extended day (near the nurse’s office), we can create a larger space, flooded with light, located in the center of the “Big Building.” That will allow us to move the Fourth Grade classrooms to the current Discovery Center location, giving them more space and natural light. We also can straighten out many of our twisting corridors, bringing light into them as well; in fact, when finished you will be able to stand in the Community Center and look north down a hallway all the way into the new STEAM wing.

Finally, the plan looks at the possibility of having a new athletic/sports field. Many of our students play on after-school sports teams that are mostly or entirely made up of Community School students, and they (and their parents!) would find it convenient to be able to practice or have games here after school. Right now our fields are beautiful places to play, run and exercise, but they are not regulation athletic fields. Additionally, although most of the time we have plenty of available parking, at times during the year—especially when we have big events such as the Halloween parade, Thanksgiving assembly or Grandparents/Special Friends Day—our parking is full to overflowing, and we have cars parked on every available flat surface, including the grass fields. We would love to have more dedicated parking, especially if we someday do build an athletic field. One aside: The master plan also identified some adjacent property that, if it becomes available, we would be wise to investigate acquiring. This acquisition could help us ensure we protect the natural state of our woods and/or potentially give us room for future building projects.

The state of the school is strong, and it is widely acknowledged that our facilities and grounds are both beautiful and educationally appropriate. However, our needs have evolved over the years, and going through the process of identifying potential future development has shown us ways we can enhance the quality of teaching and learning here at Community School. We do not have a timeline or estimated price of these improvements, so one of the tasks for the Board of Trustees over the coming year will be to think about the next steps as we work toward improving the learning environment here at Community School. We will certainly keep you all informed as we move forward!

Community School held its Annual Life Members Luncheon on December 7, welcoming seven new members into this esteemed group. Life Members are elected by the Board of Trustees, and are past parents, alumni, grandparents, teachers, and friends who have contributed their time and talents and shown a continuing interest in the school. We'd like to introduce you to our 2017-2018 inductees:

Nancy Diemer ’77 has been a very active volunteer and alumna of Community School, serving as Chair of the Alumni Board, Grade Chair, Discovery Center volunteer, and member of the Tour Guide and Centennial Steering committees. She served on the Board of Trustees for two terms, and worked on numerous Board Committees, including the Committee on Trustees, Strategic Planning Committee (twice), and was Chair of the Advisory Committee for the most recent Head of School Search – all while keeping up with two active boys (Donny ’14 and Peter ’17). Nancy has been on several boards throughout St. Louis, such as chairing the Magic House and St. Louis Children’s Hospital Board, the Advisory Board for Operation Food Search and the Magic House’s President’s Council.

Thomas Helmkampf ’76 was not only an active parent while his children attended Community (Zach ’10, Gus ’13, Sam ’15 and Xander ’17), but an alumnus himself, along with his mother and several other family members. We are pleased to honor Tom as Life Member for his generous support and volunteering on boards and committees for the school. Tom was on the Board of Trustees for two terms. He was heavily involved with the Building and Grounds Committee for ten years and oversaw the creation of the 2007 Master Facilities Plan. Tom is the President of MCS Construction and has an MBA from Vanderbilt’s Owen School of Business and a BA from Denison University.

Kerrigan Kaplan has been a friend and volunteer of Community School in numerous ways during her six-year term on the Board of Trustees. Her positions included President, Vice President, Executive Committee Member, and Chair of several committees, including Committee on Trustees, Strategic Planning Committee, and Development Committee. Kerrigan also served in key leadership roles for the 2017-2022 Strategic Plan, the Head of School Search Committee, and the Marketing Committee for the “Where Wonder Leads” Branding Campaign. In addition to her board service, Kerrigan enjoyed volunteering in the classroom during her time at Community School for her two children—Callie ’16 and Connor ’17. She is a dynamic, versatile leader with over 25 years of business experience who volunteers on multiple boards throughout St. Louis.

Eileen Morrison was an outstanding faculty member at Community School during her 25 year tenure. Eileen has been awarded the Excellence in Teaching Award from the Emerson Corporation and the Independent Schools of St. Louis as well as an award for Teacher of Distinction. She enjoys running into former students and teachers around St. Louis, as well as her periodic visits to Community as a substitute teacher. Her love of working with students has extended beyond Community School when she joined the Ready Readers program, reading aloud weekly to underserved youth and gifting the students with books of their own several times a year. Eileen is also involved with her church program that includes the St. Vincent DePaul Society.

Julie & Eric Ralph

Julie has impacted Community School in multiple roles as a teacher, a parent (Walter ’15 and Philip ’17), and a volunteer. Julie taught the sixth grade class for six years. When she returned to Community as a parent, she volunteered for roles such as the Senior Kindergarten Grade Chair and the Chair of Faculty Hospitality. She went on to tirelessly chair both Cornucopia 2010 and the yearlong Centennial celebration. Julie served on the Board of Trustees for seven years and was the Chair of the Head of School Search Committee. Her community involvement includes serving on the Ready Readers Executive Committee and the Service Bureau Board. She is an active volunteer at MICDS and serves on their Educational Life Committee.

Eric has been an active member of Community School as well as the St. Louis community. Eric currently serves as Chair of the Investment Committee and is a proud parent of two Community School alumni (Walter ’15 and Philip ’17). Eric has also been an strong advocate for the school and supporter of the Cornucopia Dinner and Auction, the Centennial Campaign as well as numerous board commitments. Eric is a shareholder and a consultant to several of Summit’s pension, foundation, and healthcare clients. Eric is a board member of the CFA Society of St. Louis, and the St. Louis Area Foodbank.

Jan Wisland reached the hearts of many children over her 28-year tenure at Community School and believes Community School is truly a family. Prior to Community, she taught at Mesa Elementary School in Boulder, Colorado, where she conducted individual learning workshops for college students and school districts. At the time of her retirement from Community School, she was awarded the Lowenhaupt Award for her wonderful collaboration with students at Washington University St. Louis in the School of Education, helping students to earn experience as assistant teachers and through internships at the school. Now she regularly returns to substitute teach.

Caroline Zarinelli ("Mrs. Z") began her journey at Community School as a Junior Kindergarten parent (Jackie ’98 and Lucy ’05), bringing favorite classroom stories to life through musical theatre. After a few years, she was invited to create curriculum for the classroom and later asked to join the faculty as a drama teacher. During her 20-year career at Community School, she also taught Band and Linguistics. She loved collaborating with her colleagues and students to create fun learning experiences for the students and their parents. In recent years, Mrs. Zarinelli has been developing several passion projects, reading voraciously, writing and coaching a multitude of talented and hardworking singers and actors. Last fall, she dusted off her carpentry tools to design and build a pop-up studio for the Lead With Love conference in Aspen, Colorado. This year, Mrs. Z has returned to the classroom teaching performing arts to students at Oak Hill.

Two young alumni—Kyle Sha and Lily Yanagimoto, both Class of 2017—volunteered to create a mural for the school, which now hangs prominently in the Main Office. They designed the entire piece based on their love of books and reading.

Art teacher Dave Lang commented, “Lily and Kyle truly showed the independence that the art program at Community really strives for. The whole piece was conceived of and executed by the two of them. I came in a few times over the summer and watched them collaborate, debate, and problem solve without input from anyone else. It is always fun for me to see students demonstrate the habits of an artist!”

Head of School Bob Cooke added, "Lily and Kyle volunteered to spend much of their free time—and a good chunk of the summer—creating this wonderful mural that we have installed in the main office. I think it beautifully evokes the magic of reading, and is also a perfect gift to the many years of students who will follow in Lily and Kyle’s footsteps here.”

Students and adults alike have loved looking at the new mural and noticing all the details it contains. Thanks, Lily and Kyle!
DeHovitz Drama Fund

Alumnus Leaves a Legacy
For 104 years, Community School has emphasized the importance of public speaking and drama, and with the support of Dr. Dan DeHovitz, Class of 1966, who endowed the DeHovitz Drama Fund, Community School will be able to support these programs in perpetuity.

During a visit in October 2017, Dr. DeHovitz recounted his time spent at Community School and the impact it had on the rest of his life. He came to Community School as a 5th grader. He had on the rest of his life. He came to Community School and the impact it had on the rest of his life. He came to Community School as a 5th grader. He acknowledged that he likely was not performing up to his potential in public schools, and so his parents moved him to Community School. There is no question in his mind that Community School motivated him; Community School moved at a fast pace, and he rose to the challenge.

He remembers his two years at Community School - over fifty years ago - fondly. He identifies that time as one of the major influences of his life and as one that set him on a better path as far as education was concerned. He explained that Community School was instrumental in him going to college at Stanford, medical school at USC and on to UCLA for his anesthesiology residency. Immediately after his time at Community, he went on to John Burroughs School for two years before moving with his family to California. With the training he received from Community School, he was prepared for the rigor of Advanced Placement classes at Palo Alto High School. As he explained, Community School got his motor running, and he was able to start working to his potential.

Influential Memories
The switch to Community School was not easy. In order to prepare for the transition, Dr. DeHovitz spent the summer working with Mrs. Pronko, who tutored him once or twice a week. When he speaks of Mrs. Pronko, he describes the experience in a way that many alumni describe their partnerships with Community School teachers. She was “amazing,” “powerful,” “a positive influence,” and he says, “I felt she would do anything for the school or any student and she influenced a lot of lives.” In fact, because of this relationship, Dr. DeHovitz’s mother kept in touch with Mrs. Pronko for years after he graduated and even after they moved to California.

To Dr. DeHovitz, Community School was more than academics. Many of his memories involve his friends, a little bit of mischief - like the time his rubber band somehow flew across the room during lunch and landed with a splash in Ms. Reinhard’s coffee - and extracurricular activities - especially drama. One memory he recounts with great affection is the tradition of having 6th graders memorize and recite a poem from heart. Dr. DeHovitz remembers himself as a shy kid who enjoyed attending the theater with his family. He always wanted to be in a play, but there was not much opportunity for that in public elementary schools, and his shyness often kept him in the background. However, this 6th grade tradition propelled him into the on-stage spotlight. He chose to memorize the Gettysburg Address - not a small feat - and he ended up reciting it in front of the whole school. He tells this story with a smile. Community School challenged and encouraged him to embrace his skills beyond academics.

Community Revisited - 52 years later
Despite the separation of distance and time, Dr. DeHovitz has thought about Community School from time to time. Community School left an impression on him and his life. And so, when he was preparing to return for his JBS reunion - at the invitation of his CS classmate, Nancy Berg - he impulsively picked up the phone and called Community School to schedule a tour.

During his visit to Community School, he walked through the woodshop and the woods, and he flipped through old photos in the archives, where he found a great picture of his little brother and immediately started texting his family. A lot has changed at Community School in appearance, but the essence of Community School is the same. Talking with the Head of School, Bob Cooke, and other staff, he felt welcome, he felt important and he felt like he still belonged and had friends at Community.

One of the big changes in Community School is the addition of the Community Arts Center. Seeing the new auditorium and stage brought back his memory of his time reciting the Gettysburg Address. He was happy to know the tradition of drama continues at Community School, and he wanted to help make sure it continues in perpetuity.

Fulfilling Philanthropy – The DeHovitz Drama Fund
Dr. DeHovitz’s mom always wanted to be a philanthropist, and her son shares her passion for philanthropy. Community School is special to their family, and so he endowed the DeHovitz Drama Fund, which provides financial support for productions at Community School.

Each year, the DeHovitz Drama Fund will support a student production. Dr. DeHovitz recently watched the sixth grade production of Tut Tut! on video and shared it with his parents, who he is thankful to still have in his life. He shared how impressed he was with the Community School Class of 2018 and thinks they are amazing. When he explained why he endowed this fund he said:

“What’s nice is you take take take in the first 50 years, and then you give back. You are really lucky if you can give back. It is a privilege. It is much better to give than receive. I am not great at receiving; I am much better at giving.”
